UNISON - Cut Crime – Not PCSOs

UNISON day of action in Norwich

Norfolk Constabulary is planning to axe all 150 police community support officers (PCSOs) in the county to save money.

UNISON believes that these plans must be stopped and is organising a day of action in Norwich on Saturday 2 December.

The aim is to send a strong message to Norwich North Conservative MP, and assistant government whip, Chloe Smith that the priority of her government should be cutting crime, not cutting PCSOs who play a vital role in keeping our communities safe.

Join us on 2 December

UNISON regional secretary Chris Jenkinson said: “We are determined to stop this short sighted move by Norfolk Constabulary. There is a real danger that if we don’t stop this now other police forces around the country will look to do the same. But we need your help. I hope to see lots of people in Norwich on Saturday 2 December.”

UNISON is the trade union that represents police staff, including police community support officers, in Norfolk.
